Brand Style Guide

Version 8/19 EL

Mission & Vision

Educating for Global Fluency by developing Chinese & English dual -language skills, nurturing cultural adaptability and inspiring excellence for a positive impact in our world.

Hope Chinese Charter School strives to build communities where youth become:

World Citizens: Model respect for human diversity, demonstrate understanding of historical and environmental trends and events and their global impact, demonstrate empathy, assume responsibility for your actions, promote a positive environment and culture, and help others.

Critical Thinkers: Be able to develop and pose questions, analyze, synthesize, and evaluate concepts/topics that vary in complexity, demonstrate ability to use ideas to solve problems and execute solutions, view problems as opportunities and challenges, invent and seek out unique and creative solutions, and persistence.

Team Members: Contribute and cooperate with others, communicate effectively, demonstrate peaceful and appropriate conflict resolution, be respectful and attentive listeners, and recognize and appreciate your own talents, as well as the talents of others.

Leaders: Cultivate a sense of individual accountability, integrity, and responsibility, provide leadership in small and big groups and communities, promote a positive environment and culture, speak confidently and present ideas creatively, and learn how to identify and celebrate success.

Brand Voice

The voice is casual professional, crisp & accessible. Straightforward tone and language are used both for clarity and to be more easily understood by non-native speakers.

When inititally referencing the name of the school, the full name can be used (“Hope Chinese Charter School”), all subsequent mentions can be the more familiar, informal “Hope” or more professional, academic “HCCS.”

When to use “Hope”

- Internal Communications
 - Newsletters
- Social Media Postings

When to use “HCCS”

- Academic Papers
- Grant Applications
 - Invoices

In paragraphs, do not break words between lines, and avoid widows and orphans at beginnings or ends of paragraphs. If marketing material, full justify with last line aligned left. Use an Oxford comma for clarity, and because it’s the polite thing to do.

broken word!

This paragraph is full of mistakes both in terms of the overwhelming usage of verbiage as well as paragraph and formatting choices when writing about Hope Chinese Charter School so please don't do any of this.

orphaned word!

not justified!

Logos

The primary logo is horizontal, and should be used whenever possible when a logo is needed. For situations where it is not possible to use the horizontal logo, the square logo can be substituted. No matter which logo is used, it should be large enough for the words to be legible in the logo, approx. 1.5"+ width for the horizontal logo.

The logo should be used in full color red and yellow if at all possible. If substitutions must be made, the black and white or greyscale logos can be used. Avoid using the full color logo on a red background as the logo will disappear into the background, making it less distinct and eye-catching. Placement is normally in the top right or left corner of the page.

Dear Mr. Pan,

Thank you for your generous donation of $10 in support of Hope Chinese Charter School!

As the only public dual-language Chinese immersion charter school in Beaverton, our mission at Hope is to educate for Global Fluency by developing Chinese &

Color Palette

Red and yellow are the two primary colors of the Hope brand, with green as a supporting color and grey as a background. Header text is most frequently in red or yellow, green for backgrounds or accents, and grey as a neutral background for website, emails, etc.

HCCS RED	HCCS YELLOW	HCCS GREEN	HCCS GREY
RGB 191, 49, 26	RGB 244, 220, 0	RGB 151, 206, 139	RGB 238, 233, 234
HEX #bf311a	HEX #f4dc00	HEX #97ce8b	HEX #eee9ea
PANTONE 1805	PANTONE 605	PANTONE 7488	PANTONE 9345c

Text is in black with 90% black if used in marketing materials and signage; 100% black if used in standard document to allow for ease of reading.

Header Text is Raleway Bold in Red

This is an example of body text in 90% black Arial. It is a marketing sign or an important quote being given emphasis.

And here is standard Arial text in full black. This is just every day text, the nitty gritty details of the document, nothing fancy.

Brand Typeface

Raleway is the primary Hope font. It is a clean, straightforward sans serif font that is clear and easy to read when printed or on a screen. For emails or documents, Arial is used (or Tahoma if Arial is not available). In printed materials (newsletters, brochures) or more icon-based designs (email signatures, see logos page for example) Raleway can be used as both Header and Body font. Both fonts are from the neo-grotesque category, and are notable for being relatively straight with little line width variation.

Header font (Raleway Bold)

abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
1234567890!@#$%^&*

Body font (Arial)

abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
1234567890!@#$%^&*

If different fonts are used for other Hope activities (Xi Wang Gala, #GivingTuesday, etc.) they should reflect the clean and clear ethos of the primary brand fonts. Examples below.

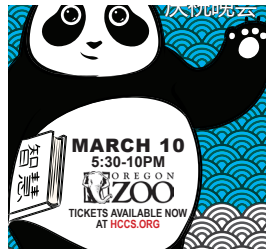

Pan Pan

Our official mascot is Pan Pan the Panda. Pan Pan was selected as our archetype because:

- “Pan Pan” is a synonym for “Hope” in Chinese
 - The gift of Pandas from China to the US in the 70’s was important in developing friendship & diplomatic relations
 - Pandas represent Wisdom Seeker values like peace building & creative problem-solving
 - Pandas are indigenous only to China
 - Everybody loves pandas

Pan Pan is friendly, a good student, a great chess player, and is also an accomplished rhythmic gymnast. Pan Pan is recognizable by face alone, or by whole body; Pan Pan can be modified to be holding something or standing in front of a new background, but should never be altered in a way that makes Pan Pan unrecognizable. There should never be text placed on Pan Pan— no tattoos. Also, Pan Pan has no gender, so avoid any pronouns, please!
